

KSH CONSTRUCTION

LUXURY RESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION · COASTAL SAN DIEGO

CSLB LICENSE #962269

A construction worker wearing a grey hoodie, tan pants, and a tool belt is using a red Kestrel nail gun to work on a wooden frame. The worker is bent over, focused on the task. The background shows a construction site with wooden studs and a blue metal frame. The lighting is warm, suggesting late afternoon or early morning. The text "Timeless luxury, masterfully crafted." is overlaid in a white, italicized serif font.

*Timeless luxury,
masterfully crafted.*

Dear Homeowner,

Thank you for inviting us into your home. That is not a formality — an estimate visit is the beginning of a long conversation, and we take it seriously.

We understand what you are weighing. A remodel at this level touches every room you live in and asks for your trust over a year or more. You should take your time with that decision. This packet is meant to help — not to persuade you with promises, but to show you plainly who we are: the people on our team, the work we have completed, and the way we run a project from first estimate to final detail.

I was born and raised in San Diego and founded KSH in 2009. From the beginning, the company has been built on one idea: the quality of a home comes down to the people who build it. I would be glad to introduce you to ours.

With respect,

Kyle Harrell

THE IN-HOUSE TEAM

The people building your home are ours.

Most contractors at this level run a small office and subcontract the rest — a rotating cast on your property, managed at a distance. KSH is built differently. The carpenters, electricians, site leads, and coordinators on your project are our own in-house team. They have worked together for years, they answer to the same standard, and they are the reason the finished work looks the way it does. These are the people you will see on your site.

The specialty trades on your project are the same trusted partners we bring to every job — long-standing relationships, not a revolving door of subcontractors. They have even built for Kyle's own home.

THE COMPANY ON PAPER

Built in San Diego. Staying that way.

KSH Construction is a luxury residential general contractor serving coastal San Diego. Since 2009 we have done one kind of work — substantial residential construction, executed by our own in-house team — and we have grown deliberately, not quickly. What follows is the company on paper.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

We don't design. We protect the design.

Your designer or architect owns the vision for your home. We believe that is exactly as it should be — and it shapes everything about how we work. KSH does not redesign, reinterpret, or quietly simplify. Our role is to execute the design as drawn and protect its integrity down to the smallest detail: the reveal on a cabinet door, the alignment of a stone seam, the way a light falls where it was always meant to.

If you have already invested in a designer's work, that investment is safe with us. We build what they imagined — nothing less, and nothing else.

“The vision belongs to your designer. The craftsmanship belongs to us.”

Don't have a designer yet? We'd love to connect you with one.

SELECTED WORK · 01

Coronado Skyline View

CORONADO, CA · WHOLE-HOME REMODEL

Whole-home interior remodel

View-driven floor plan
reconfiguration

Custom cabinetry and stonework

Hospitality-grade primary suite

A bayfront residence reoriented so the San Diego skyline sits at the center of every room. The floor plan was reconfigured around the view; the cabinetry and stonework were tailored to recede into it — glasswork, stone, and millwork resolved so cleanly that the architecture steps back and the city does the talking. The primary suite was finished to a hospitality standard, because the owners intended to enjoy this home for a long time.

SELECTED WORK · 02

Coronado Cottage

CORONADO, CA · WHOLE-HOME REMODEL

Whole-home remodel

Custom in-house carpentry

Kitchen, primary bath, and powder

Restored period detailing

A craftsman cottage on the island, reimagined for modern living without losing its turn-of-the-century soul. Work of this kind rewards patience: period detailing was restored rather than replaced, and the new millwork was built by our in-house carpenters to sit seamlessly beside the original. A century-old cottage asks a builder to know the difference between updating a house and erasing one — this project is our answer.

SELECTED WORK · 03

Fairway Haven

RANCHO SANTA FE, CA · WHOLE-HOME REMODEL

Whole-home interior remodel

In-house carpentry and finish work

Kitchen and primary suite transformation

Indoor-outdoor living integration

A whole-home remodel reimagined around long views of the fairway. Vaulted ceilings were opened up, the kitchen reconfigured for the way the family actually entertains, and the boundary between indoors and out quietly dissolved. Every finish was calibrated for a home built to host — durable enough for a full house, refined enough for a quiet evening. The result works as gracefully at twenty guests as it does at two.

SELECTED WORK · 04

Solana Beach Kitchen & Bar

SOLANA BEACH, CA · KITCHEN & BAR REMODEL

Full kitchen remodel

Custom cabinetry and paneled appliances

Carved stone range hood

Backlit stone bar

A kitchen and bar designed to carry the whole rhythm of the house. Custom cabinetry wraps the working kitchen in furniture-grade panels, a carved stone hood anchors the range, and the stone itself was set by our own crew — the same hands from template to install. Across the room, the backlit bar turns stone into light. It is the kind of room that gets called the heart of the home, and earns it.

The build is won at the detail level.

Photographs show finished rooms. What they can't show is the hundred small decisions underneath — the seams aligned, the tolerances held, the work behind the work. A home reads as luxurious because of details most people never consciously see. We see them.

Slab-matched stone

SERENITY IN STONE · CORONADO

Adjacent slabs selected and cut so the veining flows across the room as one continuous line.

The sweeping trim

CORONADO COTTAGE · CORONADO

Curved gable trim swept to follow the roofline — exterior carpentry that only looks effortless because every cut was exact.

Stone into light

SOLANA BEACH KITCHEN & BAR · SOLANA BEACH

The backlit stone bar — slab, light, and seating resolved as one piece, set by our own crew.

The working scullery

CULINARY ELEGANCE · EASTLAKE

Custom in-house cabinetry and hidden appliance integration, so the kitchen entertains while the scullery works.

HOW WE WORK

One team, accountable at every step.

From your first estimate to the final detail, your project moves through a single chain of our own people — no hand-offs to strangers, no gaps where responsibility goes quiet.

Estimating

Andrew Amato translates your plans into an accurate scope before a single tool comes out.

Project coordination

Chris Bentley is the line between our office and your home — schedules, communication, and decisions, kept in order and kept moving.

Site supervision

Jeff Tipton oversees the build day to day, with site leads Robbie Dangler and Tariq Boutros running quality control on the ground.

In-house trades

Carpentry and electrical are performed by our own team, integrated with the build schedule rather than waiting on it.

Trusted trade partners

Plumbing, HVAC, tile, and other specialty work come through the same trusted partners on every project — crews who have even worked on Kyle's own home.

A PARTNERSHIP, NOT A PROJECT

A remodel of this scale is a relationship — a year or two of building together, and years of standing behind it after. A warranty item, a maintenance question, even a power wash or a filter change: KSH will still be here, and glad to help. We don't quit when the project is done — we plan to serve you and your home for years to come.

IN THEIR WORDS

They protected every detail of our designer's vision — and the result is a home I'm genuinely proud to call mine.

DANIEL HARDERS · OTAY RANCH

Kyle's team was professional, communicative, and meticulous. They didn't just build what we asked for — they elevated it.

A note on fit

We take on a limited number of substantial residential and commercial projects in San Diego each year — it is how we keep our own team on every site. We are a licensed and insured California general contractor, CSLB #962269. Projects under $100,000 we refer to trusted colleagues who will serve them well, and we do not take on fix-and-flip work. If your project is the kind described in these pages, we would welcome the conversation. If it isn't, we will say so plainly and point you to someone who fits.

VERIFY EVERYTHING

Confidence you can check.

At this level, you shouldn't have to take a builder's word for anything. Everything on this page can be verified independently — and we'd encourage you to do exactly that.

The license

KSH Construction is a licensed and insured California general contractor — CSLB License #962269. The state's Contractors Board lets you verify any contractor's license, standing, and history at cslb.ca.gov. Look ours up — and anyone else's you're considering.

The warranty — and the 11-month walk-through

Every KSH project is backed by a one-year warranty. And one month before it expires, we schedule an 11-month walk-through of your home — so we find anything that needs attention before you ever have to ask.

In their own words

Our clients tell their own stories on film, in the homes we built for them. Scan the code, or visit kshconstruction.com/client-experiences.

Thank you for welcoming us into your home.

*When you have both had a chance to sit with this,
we would welcome the next conversation —
together, at your home.*
